

HITCHHIKING = (Ad-Hoc-Carpooling) = IN THE NETHERLANDS VERSION 2.0

Overview of good hitchhiking spots by Frank Verhart

This documents presents an overview of good hitchhiking spots in and on the edge of primarily the middle-sized and bigger cities in the Netherlands. Often, the most tricky part of a hitchhiking journey is the initial ride. In big cities it is often difficult to find the best hitchhiking spots. Therefore this overview may be good to use during a hitchhiking trip. Some of the spots mentioned are also suitable to "change cars" on the way.

The overview is based on my own experiences, especially in the east and south of the Netherlands and a number of cross country hitchhiking trips in the period 2002-2007. A great number of good hitchhiking spots was contributed by other hitchhikers. For doing so, I would like to thank most of all Jochem Lesparre, who gave valuable information about suitable sites in the west of the Netherlands ("Randstad Holland"), as well in other regions. Other hints have been received from Jelke Bosma, Tsjard Hofstra, Willem van Oosten, Jurgen Siemonsma, Wilmar Visschers, René Walhout, Reinout Wiers and some more people. Additional hitchhiking spots were found using the Google Maps zoom functionality. The systematics are based to some extent on the comprehensive Autostopguide to Europe (www.autostopguide.com), which was written by Dan Toner during the years 1996-2006. Great thanks and respect for that effort!

The overview can be read as follows. The first column gives a number to each hitchhiking spot for each city. A certain rang depending on relevance of directions has been put in the list, although places in comparable directions have been grouped as well (north, east, south, west). Directions and destinations are given in column 2. These are as well recommended names to write on a cardboard. Part of the spots can be located on a standard road map (1:200.000). If not, local maps found on stations, in city centers and on petrol stations (Esso) will provide the detail needed. For online reference links to www.lifershhalte.nl, a Google Maps based maps of hitchhiking spots were added.

One of the secrets in hitchhiking is that the best spots are hidden somewhere in the (urban) landscape. A spot which might seem rather unappealing, somewhere on the edge of a city, might be as valuable for a hitchhiker as an intercity (or even high speed train) station is for rail travellers. The function of columns 4 and 5 is rather apparent.

In most situations it is well advised to get in contact with other people if you are not familiar with the place you find yourself in, or if you do not know where a certain bus stop is (ask the bus driver).

It would be great to support hitchhiking in the Netherlands. Therefore I greatly encourage distribution of the lists as much as possible, by e-mail. Information on other good hitchhiking spots and updates on the current list are highly welcome. It would be vitally important to mention the location and type of hitchhiking spot, such as a hard shoulder, bus stop, parking lane etc etc etc. Anyone contributing to the list will receive a fresh update afterwards.
